PERSONAL SUMMARY

I am an accomplished chartered civil engineer with over twenty years' experience of leading all phases of infrastructure projects, from conceptual studies to detailed design and project delivery across different market sectors in the UK, Nigeria, UAE and Internationally. I have a proven history of leadership, collaboration, and excellence in the public and private sectors, conducting client, contractor and consultant duties. Since starting work as a placement student in July 2000 and throughout my career, I have honed strong leadership and people development skills anchored upon solid civil engineering knowledge.

I joined AtkinsRéalis in 2018 and have achieved Project Technical Leader (PTL) and Project Technical Reviewer (PTR) status. I am responsible for team strategy, line management, staff professional development, work winning, and technical and commercial delivery of projects. Before joining Atkins, I had similar responsibilities at Veda Associates alongside client account management and monthly commercial reporting.

I am a member of the AtkinsRéalis' Rail Consulting Practice Technical Director's forum and provide civil engineering technical leadership to the Rail Systems and Infrastructure Sub-Practice. I have successfully led and delivered a vast portfolio of projects, from initial bidding and work winning to construction delivery. I also lead the engineering and assurance for the design and construction of railway infrastructure and systems for Train Operating Companies (ToCs) and Tier 1 Principal Contractors (PCs) in the UK.

I perform the Contractor's Engineering Manager (CEM) and the Contractor's Responsible Engineer (CRE) duties for multiple buildings and civil engineering projects for Network Rail UK, and I have also led the delivery of a portfolio of complex work packages on the Euston Enabling Works component of the multibillion-pound HS2 Project for the UK Government.

As a Principal Engineer in Nigeria, I delivered large Flood Control schemes in Benue State, with accountability for the commercial and technical delivery of the schemes.
